Job Title: Senior Project Manager - District Energy

Client: Big six energy supplier

Following ongoing dialogue with numerous senior managers within a major energy supplier, an urgent requirement was identified for a senior project management appointment, with regional responsibilities for a number of landmark district heating schemes that are potentially political sensitive.

This was a challenging specification and itecopeople were ultimately successful through a proactive search approach that led to a recommendation.

Interviews were set up at short notice and an appointment made 24 hours later.

We have subsequently appointed a number of additional hires into the same business stream.
